EU GENERAL DATA PROTECTION REGULATION (GDPR)

The EU General Data protection Regulation (GDPR) came into force across the European Union (EU) on 25th May 2018 and brings with it significant changes to data protection lay. The new regulation aims to standardize data protection laws and processing across the EU.

When someone visits our website, we collect standard internet log information and details of visitor behaviour patterns. We do this to find out things such as the number of visitors to the various parts of our site. We collect this information in a way which does not identify anyone. We do not make any attempt to find out the identities of those visiting our website. We will not associate any data gathered from this site with any personally identifying information from any source.

Any information given to us is used to process your order and enable us to contact you during this process and will not be given out or sold to any third party. Any personal details will not be given out without your permission. Your information is held with us only.

You have the right to request a copy of the personal data we hold for you. Request that we erase any personal data where it is no longer necessary for us to hold.